Yaman Refki

AI-First Software Engineer

AI-first engineer with 7+ years building custom web platforms, CRM integrations, and automation workflows. Comfortable across React, Laravel, Flutter, and WordPress — drawn to messy problems: broken systems, slow pipelines, overly complex setups. Also co-host a podcast on tech, design, and AI.

Work Experience

08/2025 - Present

Solarabic

Web Product Manager

- Lead all web product development for the company and its clients — from planning and architecture to execution and delivery.
- Own the full product lifecycle: requirements, design decisions, development, and launch.
- Deliver web solutions for large solar industry companies across MENA and international markets.
- Manage and mentor interns, coordinating delivery across the development team.

03/2022 - 08/2025

Solarabic

Web Developer

- Built and launched solarabic.com end-to-end — development, server setup, and AWS deployment.
- Configured Google Analytics and Tag Manager for data tracking across company and client properties.
- Developed automation workflows to streamline the editorial team's daily operations.
- Delivered web projects for 20+ clients across the solar industry.

03/2018 - Present

Self-employed

WordPress Developer

- Developed custom WordPress plugins tailored to specific business needs.
- Designed and built websites end-to-end — from UI design to deployment.
- Delivered projects across multiple industries and regions, including a classified ads platform for Canada and news websites for Syria.

What I Build

- Custom web & mobile applications
- CRM integrations & automation workflows
- API development & third-party integrations
- Data migration & ETL workflows
- Performance fixes — servers, PHP, databases

Beyond Work

Co-host of a podcast on tech, design, and AI — exploring how builders think and ship in the AI era.
